HISTORICAL SKETCH

Mention your ancestors, their nationality, politics, religion, occupation, general characteristics, etc. Describe your own birth place and its environment. Follow your life from birth to the present, mentioning all places of residence, how long at each, your education, religion, travels, and the things that have most influenced your life. What is your life work? What aspirations of childhood are now verified? What are you now doing for the betterment of the world?

My Father was a Southerner, he was born in Tennessee. His ancestors worked in the cotton, the men gathering and the women dying spinning and weaving and making it into clothing. After leaving the south they settled in Illinois, my father was the only one of his people to join the church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. My mother's brothers came to Utah settling in Salt Lake City and are faithful workers in the church. They were carpenters and masons, two of them came with the Mormon Battalion, one died while on his way I think it was John Perkins. My mother died when I was about two years old. Later when I was about ten years old my father left with a company of Saints, for Utah and died while on the plains leaving me without a father, to assist in caring for the family when I grew to womanhood. I married Albert Dickson, who is a Bishop in Morgan, Utah.

I was called to go through a sad ordeal when my son George Henry nineteen years of age was struck and killed by the lightning. He had been away from home nearly a year when he wrote me a letter, telling me that he was home sick and that he would soon be home. I could hardly wait for the time to pass, while I was counting the days before his return word comes of his death.
